

SEPTEMBER 2018

country living

For members of East Central Electric Cooperative

HIGHLIGHTS

Fine Weather Draws Crowd To Annual Meeting

It didn't feel like July on July 26. With temperatures in the 80s, East Central Electric Cooperative members enjoyed their 80th Annual Meeting, browsing arts and crafts booths, sipping soda pop, and chatting with friends without breaking a sweat. The fine weather, along with valuable prizes, face painting and bounce houses for kids, drew a crowd of 2,000 to the meeting.

A number of members won prizes, including $100 early bird registration prizes and $50 stay-to-win drawings. The big money went to the following members who won $1,000 cash:

$1,000 Prize Winners

- Joy Yost
- Jim Hill
- Bruce Sweet
- Ray Daniels
- Charles Luther
- Robbie Hurt
- Lori Stotler
- Gary Pendergrass

Above: Co-op employees Holly Brians and Cindy Poyner help children at the ECE Annual Meeting register for free prizes.

Right: A young girl models the artful touch provided by the face painting booth at the Annual Meeting.

Members who attended also received a complimentary copy of the ECE 80th Anniversary Cookbook, the ECE Annual Report, a $20 electric bill credit, a cap with ECE's new logo, and other freebies.

If you missed the meeting, you can pick up a cookbook for $8 at ECE headquarters while supplies last. Copies of the ECE Annual Report are available online at www.ecoec.com.

D:\psr\1400\work\proj\misc... 2438.C 02... PS Version: 3015... 11/2... 8.3... 17, 2018 12:39:46 PM

